The Problem

Domestic violence has a tremendous impact on employee attendance, productivity and on a company's bottom line.

Domestic abuse poses a threat to employees' physical and emotional health, attendance, productivity, quality of work and personal safety, as well as to the safety of their colleagues. Yet very few businesses have any procedures or protocols in place to address it.

The Solution

WomenSV is working to fill this gap by providing corporate trainings throughout the Bay Area. Partner with WomenSV to promote the health, safety and productivity of individual staff members and your company as a whole through education, support and connection to resources.

What You Can Do

Become a corporate partner with WomenSV. We will work with you to design a program that informs and educates your staff on the impact of domestic violence in the workplace and what they can do about it to protect themselves, their colleagues, and their company.

Services we offer in the corporate partnership program include:

- Providing professional trainings for staff tailored to your company's needs
- Creating a domestic violence protocol to keep your employees and workplace safer and more productive
- Serving as a resource for employees experiencing intimate partner violence

We invite you to partner with us and support our work in continuing to provide vital services to survivors at home and in the workplace.

There are many opportunities throughout the year to partner with us in making your employees more aware of the health and safety consequences of domestic abuse.

Examples:

- October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month
- January is National Stalking Awareness Month
- February is Teen Dating Violence Awareness Month

Your employees can easily donate to WomenSV online (womensv.org). And donation boxes can be set up in key locations to donate via check or cash. If you are able to match your employee donations, this adds incentive for your staff to contribute to our mission of protecting women and children from domestic abuse.
